Roanoke College offers The Fowler Lecture program which serves as open forum on public affairs. The series features appearances by public officials, business and industrial leaders, and university scholars. This program affords our community an exposure to national and international leaders in a relaxed setting where frankness and discussion are possible. Visit Fowler Public Policy Lectures for more information. The lectures are free to the community.

Complimentary tickets are required. Call (540) 378-5125. Tickets may be ordered online.
