Our purpose is to help survivors and families of sexual abuse, domestic violence, and substance addiction rebuild their lives through counseling services. We support the disadvantaged, those with low-income, children of ex-offenders and the homeless who have been abused, neglected, adjudicated, delinquent, maladjusted, and maltreated. We endeavor to offer counseling services for all our clients.

Supportive services to survivors of sexual/domestic violence and human trafficking can include employment and training, GED preparation, computer training, anger management, behavior health counseling and substance addition treatment.
