Opportunities, Alternatives, and Resources (OAR) offers several programs for offenders and their families.

Post-release services are provided to help offenders reintegrate into their communities and successfully find employment, housing, health care and related services such as mental health and substance abuse treatment if needed. Services available are:

- Employment assistance, including resume preparation, employer referrals, and job readiness training.
- Funds for work uniforms, tools, transportation, and job training scholarships can also be provided.

- Emergency assistance, including food, clothing, and financial assistance with utilities and rent.
- Counseling to help deal with the emotional and cognitive effects of incarceration.
- Workshops on topics of interest such as Tax Preparation, Budgeting, Restoring Your Driver's License, Self-Esteem and Job Interviews, etc.
- Family Assistance Programs

If substance abuse or mental health issues are of concern, referrals are made to the appropriate resources.

Family members often have many questions and little understanding of how the system works. OAR volunteers staff an information desk in the lobby of the ADC specifically to answer questions, disseminate information, and provide sympathetic listening. An important tool is Handling the Crisis, a handbook developed by OAR with detailed information and referral resources for families.
