Cville Village is a community of members and volunteers age 55+ whose purpose is to help people stay in their own homes as long as possible. Volunteers are screened and trained to provide a variety of simple and practical services to members. A person can be both a member and a volunteer, because just about everyone can help out a friend in some way. In addition to offering services to members, Cville Village builds community by holding monthly social gatherings for all members and volunteers.

Services are for residents of Charlottesville as well as those within the one mile urban ring in Albemarle County.
