

Long-Term Care

Planning for long-term care needs ensures that you will be able to live as independently as possible while also meeting your health, medical, and social needs. If you are interested in long-term care options, the topics below provide information on adult day programs, assisted living, retirement communities, and nursing homes.

View PDF